Our YouTube channel is a core part of our content strategy, and we're looking for talented freelance script writers to help us take it to the next level. - A strong grasp of Islamic finance, personal finance, or economic topics is a big plus
- Experience writing for YouTube or video is a big plus (ideally with samples)
- Reliable, responsive, and open to feedback

What You'll Get

- Competitive freelance pay per script
- Regular, predictable work with a fast-growing content brand
- The chance to create high-impact content for a mission-driven audience
- Feedback and support to improve your craft

Application Process

Apply by 13th June 2025, by filling out this form.

Stage 1: Submit Your Application

Candidates fill out a short form including:

- Your resume (pdf)
- A few sentences on why you're interested in the role
- Links to your portfolio of at least 1–2 relevant writing samples (ideally video scripts)
- A 3-minute video review of one of our YouTube videos
  - Pick any video from our channel (ideally a review-style video) and share your feedback on how you would have improved the script. Focus on things like structure, clarity, hook, pacing, or messaging. (Don't overthink production quality – a loom would be great.)

Stage 2: Shortlisted Candidates

- Shortlisted applicants will be invited to a 60 minute live scripting session with our Content Manager. You'll work through a brief script outline together so we can see how you think, write, and collaborate in real-time.
